Description: This workshop will provide tools necessary for beginning singers, conductors with limited experience, and "budding" conductors. It will provide basics of the skills required to sing/conduct Orthodox choirs. It will cover topics such as giving and getting pitches, singing in parts, following printed music, singing chant vs other music, producing a worshipful sound, and singing in an appropriate tempo. There will be ample practical work and time to ask and answer questions.

This workshop, in particular, requires pre-registration so that our instructor will be able to prepare for the level of experience of his students. Please provide answers to the questions listed on the registration form.

Dr. David Drillock is the Chairperson of the Department of Liturgical Music and Translations, Orthodox Church in America, is Professor Emeritus of Liturgical Music of St Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary, where he taught for more than forty years (1962-2004) and was the director of its music program.
