Church reading is a vital ministry. Do you ever read the Epistle, chant the Hours or read psalms or Old Testament readings at Vespers? Have you ever wondered why we chant instead of reading in a speaking voice?

At the Workshop for Church Readers we will review the theology that guides and informs our liturgical ministry. We will address practical concerns regarding rubrics, melodic patterns for reading, and how to chant the Prokimenon and Alleluia in synergy with the choir. You will also have an opportunity to receive vocal coaching and practice the strategies learned at the workshop.

Whether or not you are a tonsured reader, if you read in Church or simply want to know more about reading in Church, then this workshop is for you.
